01

Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path. I have sworn, and I will perform it, that I will keep Thy righteous judgments. I am afflicted very much: quicken me, O Lord, according unto Thy word. Accept, I beseech thee, the freewill offerings of my mouth, O Lord, and teach me Thy judgments. My soul is continually in my hand: yet do I not forget thy law. The wicked have laid a snare for me: I erred not from Thy precepts. ...timonies have I taken as an heritage ... they are the rejoicing of my heart. ...ine heart to perform Thy ... unto the end.

365 Days through the Bible: A Devotional Journey from Genesis to Revelation

New

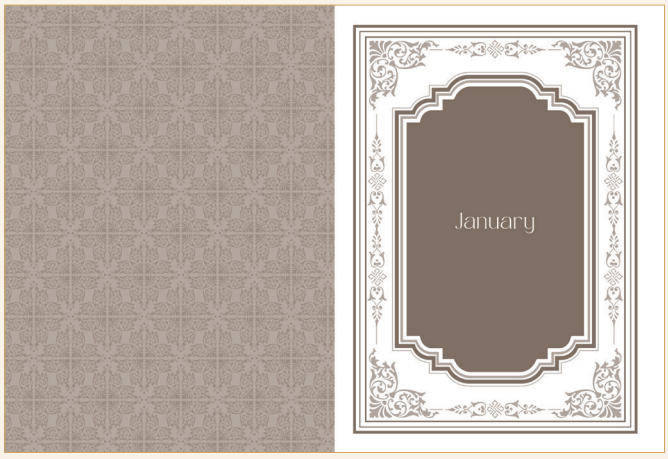

DEV306

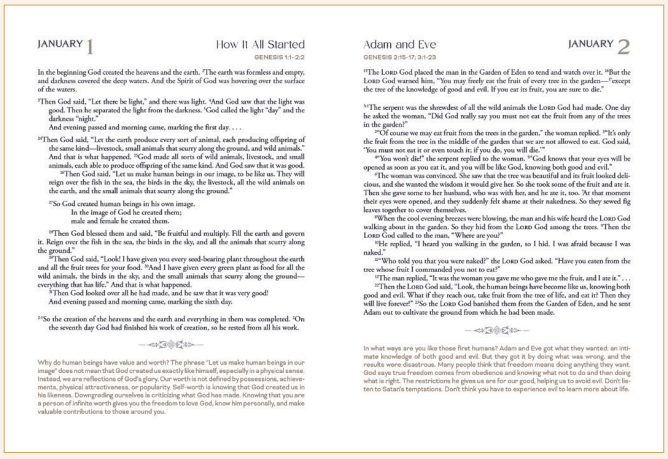

9 781639 528905

Have you ever planned to read the Bible in a year, only to get bogged down after a few weeks? Many of us want to discover more about the Bible by reading it from cover to cover, but that is a daunting task. 365 Days through the Bible is designed to help you by selecting a key passage of the Bible for each day of the year. These selections, from Genesis through Revelation, are essential for grasping an overview of the whole Bible. As you read a short passage each day, you will begin to see how God reveals His character and unveils His plans through His Word. The daily Scripture readings also include a brief reflection applying the Bible passage to your life and pointing out why it is still so important today. These brief comments will encourage you and give you something to contemplate as you go about your day.

JANUARY 1 How It All Started
GENESIS 1:1-2:2

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. 2The earth was formless and empty, and darkness covered the deep waters. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the surface of the waters.

3Then God said, "Let there be light," and there was light. 4And God saw that the light was good. Then he separated the light from the darkness. 5God called the light "day" and the darkness "night."
And evening passed and morning came, marking the first day. . . .

20Then God said, "Let the earth produce every sort of animal, each producing offspring of the same kind—livestock, small animals that scurry along the ground, and wild animals."
And that is what happened. 25God made all sorts of wild animals, livestock, and small animals, each able to produce offspring of the same kind. And God saw that it was good.
26Then God said, "Let us make human beings in our image, to be like us. They will reign over the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, the livestock, all the wild animals on the earth, and the small animals that scurry along the ground."

27So God created human beings in his own image.
In the image of God he created them;
male and female he created them.

28Then God blessed them and said, "Be fruitful and multiply. Fill the earth and govern it. Reign over the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, and all the animals that scurry along the ground."
29Then God said, "Look! I have given you every seed-bearing plant throughout the earth and all the fruit trees for your food. 30And I have given every green plant as food for all the wild animals, the birds in the sky, and the small animals that scurry along the ground—everything that has life." And that is what happened.
31Then God looked over all he had made, and he saw that it was very good!
And evening passed and morning came, marking the sixth day.

2:1So the creation of the heavens and the earth and everything in them was completed. 2On the seventh day God had finished his work of creation, so he rested from all his work.

Why do human beings have value and worth? The phrase "Let us make human beings in our image" does not mean that God created us exactly like himself, especially in a physical sense. Instead, we are reflections of God's glory. Our worth is not defined by possessions, achievements, physical attractiveness, or popularity. Self-worth is knowing that God created us in his likeness. Downgrading ourselves is criticizing what God has made. Knowing that you are a person of infinite worth gives you the freedom to love God, know him personally, and make valuable contributions to those around you.

JANUARY 2 Adam and Eve
GENESIS 2:15-17, 3:1-23

15The LORD God placed the man in the Garden of Eden to tend and watch over it. 16But the LORD God warned him, "You may freely eat the fruit of every tree in the garden—17except the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. If you eat its fruit, you are sure to die."

1The serpent was the shrewdest of all the wild animals the LORD God had made. One day he asked the woman, "Did God really say you must not eat the fruit from any of the trees in the garden?"
2"Of course we may eat fruit from the trees in the garden," the woman replied. 3"It's only the fruit from the tree in the middle of the garden that we are not allowed to eat. God said, 'You must not eat it or even touch it; if you do, you will die.'"
4"You won't die!" the serpent replied to the woman. 5"God knows that your eyes will be opened as soon as you eat it, and you will be like God, knowing both good and evil."
6The woman was convinced. She saw that the tree was beautiful and its fruit looked delicious, and she wanted the wisdom it would give her. So she took some of the fruit and ate it. Then she gave some to her husband, who was with her, and he ate it, too. 7At that moment their eyes were opened, and they suddenly felt shame at their nakedness. So they sewed fig leaves together to cover themselves.
8When the cool evening breezes were blowing, the man and his wife heard the LORD God walking about in the garden. So they hid from the LORD God among the trees. 9Then the LORD God called to the man. "Where are you?"
10He replied, "I heard you walking in the garden, so I hid. I was afraid because I was naked."
11"Who told you that you were naked?" the LORD God asked. "Have you eaten from the tree whose fruit I commanded you not to eat?"
12The man replied, "It was the woman you gave me who gave me the fruit, and I ate it."...
22Then the LORD God said, "Look, the human beings have become like us, knowing both good and evil. What if they reach out, take fruit from the tree of life, and eat it? Then they will live forever!" 23So the LORD God banished them from the Garden of Eden, and he sent Adam out to cultivate the ground from which he had been made.

In what ways are you like those first humans? Adam and Eve got what they wanted: an intimate knowledge of both good and evil. But they got it by doing what was wrong, and the results were disastrous. Many people think that freedom means doing anything they want. God says true freedom comes from obedience and knowing what not to do and then doing what is right. The restrictions he gives us are for our good, helping us to avoid evil. Don't listen to Satan's temptations. Don't think you have to experience evil to learn more about life.

Give & Take

All must give as they are able, according to the blessings given to them by the LORD your God.
Deuteronomy 16:17

It's hard not to stockpile our belongings. What if our money, food or clothing runs out? What if we give to those in need and then don't have enough left for ourselves?

It can be a scary feeling to admit when we are in a position to give to others. We may be left wondering if our blessings will dry out.

Here's the thing: if each of us gives as we are able, then our blessings are not simply being emptied, they are being shared. You may give to me, but someone else, then, may give to you.

Take stock of your money, food, clothing or even your joy—let's consider giving to others, trusting that the Lord will continue to bless us through others.

Getting a Grip!

"Don't sin by letting anger control you." Don't let the sun go down while you are still angry, for anger gives a foothold to the devil.
Ephesians 4:26-27

Anger is a powerful emotion. It can drive us to say or do things that are regrettable, hurtful and out of character.

While anger may not be completely unavoidable, it is not meant to be in command of our words and actions. Once we allow anger to rule over us in a moment or circumstance, we are handing ourselves over to sin.

What if, instead of letting anger dictate our behavior, we do something with it? A moment to pray, go for a walk, journal or have a conversation with someone we are struggling with can alter the way we behave in anger.

Even if the anger doesn't completely go away, it will no longer be in control—and neither will sinfulness!

Patiently Waiting

Each morning I bring my requests to You and wait expectantly.
Psalm 5:3

Do you ever ask for something without waiting to hear the answer? Maybe you know your request is a long shot, or maybe you have no doubt that the response will be a resounding "YES!" Either way, isn't it interesting that you would ask something but not pause to listen to the answer?

God wants to receive our requests and offer us a response. We might hear an immediate answer, or we could have our patience tested as we pause to listen.

God's response is worth waiting around for—ask for what you need and desire, but don't forget to stand by for His response!

A Holy Hand-Off

Give all your worries and cares to God, for He cares about you.
1 Peter 5:7

It can be difficult to remain grounded in the midst of stressful or scary circumstances. Anxiety is usually an overwhelming and lonely feeling. Where do you go when life begins to feel like "too much?" Who do you talk to? Or do you keep it all to yourself?

Stressful times will come and go (and then come again), but God's care for us is not going anywhere. While we may not always be able to completely escape worries or anxiety, we are free to give them to God, rather than hold on to them ourselves.

God cares about what worries us, no matter how big or small it may seem. When we share it with Him, the load of our anxiety is lightened, and peace enters into the chaos.

A Comfort We Can Share

Praise be to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of compassion and the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our troubles, so that we can comfort those in any trouble with the comfort we ourselves receive from God.

2 Corinthians 1:3-4

Nobody is too young or too old to suffer hard things. But no matter how hurt or disappointed we might feel, God is good. He's faithful to help us and get us through to the other side of our problems. But He doesn't stop there! He pours so much love and comfort into our hearts that we can share it with others who are hurting.

Have you had to try, try, and try again to accomplish your goals? You can encourage someone who's ready to quit. Have you overcome sin and bad habits? You're able to share the good news of Jesus' love and forgiveness with the world.

God will never waste our pain. He'll answer our prayers for help and hope so we discover how great His love truly is. Then, we get to take the comfort He's given and pay it forward.

Grace Is Not Earned

For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this is not from yourselves, it is the gift of God—not by works, so that no one can boast.

Ephesians 2:8-9

At school a strong report card comes from studying hard to achieve good grades. At work a paycheck or weekly allowance is earned through finishing each day's job. We try to look good, act nice, and please people to make friends. If we become successful or popular, it's tempting to feel proud of what our efforts accomplished.

Yet no matter how we try, we can't earn God's love. Following the rules, sharing with others, and going to church won't make us more welcome in heaven. Our salvation isn't paid for by our good behavior—it's a free gift from God.

Is there a penalty for our sins? Yes. Can we do enough good to cover our sins? No. Our sin-debt was fully paid by Jesus' death on the cross. God invites us to receive the gift of life by trusting in Jesus. Instead of bragging about our goodness, we praise God for His free gift of life and love.

Break Down Your Tower

They said to each other, "Come, let's make bricks and bake them thoroughly."...Then they said, "Come, let us build ourselves a city, with a tower that reaches to the heavens, so that we may make a name for ourselves; otherwise we will be scattered over the face of the whole earth."

Genesis 11:3-4

In the city of Babel, the people wanted to build something awesome. Their tower would show off their advanced technology, money, and power to everybody.

We all want the same thing, don't we? It feels good when people say we're smart, good-looking, talented, or successful. The problem is that winning the game, getting a promotion, or feeling popular with our friends can become too important. We try so hard to build ourselves up—just like that tower—that we forget how much we need God.

Let's check our hearts today. Do we want praise and attention for ourselves, or do we want to bring God glory? Are we working hard on our own, or are we depending on God for help? Who is the builder of our lives today?

God Is Our Superhero

Do not be far from me, for trouble is near and there is no one to help.

Psalm 22:11

We all love a good superhero story. Invincible strength, special powers, and high-tech gadgets overcome danger and doom. Good triumphs over evil and saves the day. We'd welcome a superhero if our car slid into a ditch or a threatening storm was in the forecast. We wish we could summon a hero any moment we're in trouble.

What do we do when problems crash into our lives? In the middle of a crisis, who can we call for help? Our Lord is better than any superhero we could imagine. He's real. With Him, all things are possible (Matthew 19:26). He is able to do more than all we ask or imagine (Ephesians 3:20).

Our powerful, unstoppable God is full of love. He listens to our prayers when we cry for help. He's always close and holds us in His hands. Nothing we face is too difficult for Him to handle. We can find peace knowing He's always on our side.

Duty or Delight?

You do not desire a sacrifice, or I would offer one. You do not want a burnt offering. The sacrifice You desire is a broken spirit. You will not reject a broken and repentant heart, O God.
Psalm 51:16-17 NLT

My deepest longing as a parent is for my kids to love God with their lives. I'm convinced everything else falls into place—somewhere, somehow—if He has their hearts. I want them to obey Jesus because it delights them, not because it's their duty. I want them to know in the marrow of their bones why they make the good choices they make—as opposed to knowing why they should.

I also know my kids need to see me living this way: free because of God's favor. I need to be sure I've found the why that underpins my worldview and all my ways, never trapped by habit or obligation but energized by God's splendid love.

Quiet Control

The LORD replied, "My Presence will go with you, and I will give you rest."
Exodus 33:14 NIV

We have no control over heaps of life's happenings—globally, locally, personally. But we do have control over our actions, attitudes, thoughts and words. We do have control over our immediate environments, making sure our homes, work settings and social spaces are—as far as it depends on us—places of peace, where Christ is King.

As for the rest of our crazy busy noisy lives, we can control how we choose to respond to the things we can't control. When it's hard to find time to rest, or impossible to turn down the din blaring around you, remember that God's presence goes with you all the time, and you can rest in it anytime.

Ask God to teach you how to live in the quiet of His presence amid the chaos of life.

Overflowing

"The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy. I came that they may have life and have it abundantly."
John 10:10 ESV

God is not on rations, and He doesn't ration us. He doesn't eke out a miserly existence, doling out love scraps to His starving children. He's the boundless God of everywhere, all-the-time power, wisdom and kindness. He wanted so much to show us His lavishness that He sent His only Son to pour that limitless love into our lives.

And you don't ever need to fear that God's life in you will run dry—that there won't be quite enough of His peace and joy to see you through another year, and then some. The Greek word perissos, translated abundantly in this verse, means over and above, more than is necessary, superadded, superior, extraordinary, surpassing, uncommon.

That's the kind of existence your heavenly Father has designed for you. Your glass certainly isn't half empty. It's not even half full. It's overflowing.

Stress Happens

"I have told you these things, so that in Me you may have peace. In this world you will have trouble. But take heart! I have overcome the world."
John 16:33 NIV

Losing your job. Losing a loved one. Losing your car keys or a lane in the traffic. Finding out you owe the taxman way more than you thought. Finding a zit on your forehead the morning of a job interview. Finding a text message you weren't meant to read, or a tumor, or a truckload of creased clothes that won't iron themselves. Life is full of the complications and unravelings of things going wrong and beyond our power to manage.

We can't always know what's coming and we certainly can't always control it—but we can determine to make the best choices around those events and eventualities. And we can determine to trust Jesus, who assured us that He has overcome all the things that threaten to overcome us.

Introduction to Numbers

DAY 25: A LONG OBEDIENCE
Numbers 21:7

"So Moses prayed for the people" (Num. 21:7).

In Jewish usage, the book of Numbers goes by the name, "In the Wilderness," taken from the fifth word in the Hebrew text. It is a better name than Numbers, which one suspects has probably kept a lot of people from even beginning to read the book. "In the Wilderness" also captures the story and its meaning for prayer. In his Confessions, St. Augustine wrote, "For it is one thing to see the land of peace from a wooded ridge . . . and another to tread the road that leads to it." God had promised to lead his rescued people to a land of freedom, flowing with milk and honey (Exod. 3:8). That sounded wonderful to a slave people whose workweek was 24/7, without medical and dental coverage and no hope for retirement. They couldn't wait to pack their bags and get going to that great place. But there was just one problem: they had to cross a terrible desert to get there and trust God to give them everything they needed as they traveled. They would have to become pilgrims. It is the struggle to be a pilgrim that forms the plot line of Numbers, or "In the Wilderness."

The spiritual life is a marathon, not a sprint. As Nietzsche said, a "long obedience in the same direction," not a weekend getaway. The gift of freedom and peace is just that—a gift—free, gratis. But it is not cheap. The saved still need to put one foot in front of the other, day-in and day-out. William Carey said his great virtue was that he could "plod." It is more than a virtue; it is an essential resource for the journey. Ninety percent of learning to pray is just showing up faithfully. The journey is full of surprises and challenges, and God has much to teach us along the way. But we won't learn it unless we come to what Andrew Murray called the "school of prayer." The graduates will sing.

PRAY THIS HYMN:
Hitherto Thy love has blest me;
Thou hast brought me to this place;
And I know Thy hand will bring me
Safely home by Thy good grace.

Jesus tonight me when a stranger,
Wandering from the fold of God;
He, to rescue me from danger,
Bought me with His precious blood.
(from the hymn "Come, Thou Fount of Every Blessing" by Robert Robinson)

32

DAY 26: THE LORD BLESS YOU
Numbers 6:22-27

"So they will put my name on the Israelites and I will bless them" (Num. 6:27).

This prayer of blessing is a great prayer to say if you don't have a prayer. But it is just as great even if you do because prayers don't come any better than this one, written or extemporaneous. God prepared this prayer and gave it to Aaron and his sons to say over the Israelites. God's people have been saying it ever since. This prayer of blessing spans the whole biblical story and taps into the richest sources of scriptural truth. Take it a line at a time:

"The Lord bless you": A blessing is not a religious way of saying, "Have a nice day." Blessing is a powerful biblical word; expansive, comprehensive, concrete, touching on all aspects of the good life lived under God: health, abundance, a good marriage, and a happy family (Gen. 9:1; 17:6; 28:3).

"and keep you": God is a warrior and a defender of his people; a shield and fortress (Ps. 121:7-8; 122:1-2). We may pray that God will be who he is.

"the Lord make his face shine upon you... the Lord turn his face towards you": A shining face is a beautiful picture of a friend who delights in you, or of a bridegroom, with love in his eyes, gazing at his bride. God is that way too—read it in Isaiah 62:5. We may pray that he will do what he loves to do.

"and be gracious to you": God is gracious and shows favor to those who don't deserve it (Exod. 34:29-35). In fact, not deserving it is what makes it gracious, the very condition for grace to be grace. We may pray that others will receive the good things they don't deserve.

"and give you peace": Peace is another word like blessing and is often linked with it in the same way the New Testament links "grace and peace." Peace, God's shalom, is comprehensive well-being and equipoise, the kind of blessedness that is experienced as inner peace and tranquility.

"And so they will put my name on the Israelites, and I will bless them": By God's grace, we belong to God! Since we are his, we can be assured that his blessings and delight, his graciousness and peace are ours forever.

Memorize this prayer and you will always be prepared to pray the best for anyone.

33

DAY 27: A MIRROR OF PRAYER
Numbers 11:10-35

"Why have you brought this trouble on your servant?" (Num. 11:11).

Like its leading characters, the Bible has many models of prayer to emulate. And like its leading characters, it also has many "mirrors" of prayer—prayers prayed by flawed people like us. These prayers are not prescribed but allowed. This prayer is a "mirror" prayer because it reveals flaws. In this passage, Moses is fed up with God's people, and maybe a little fed up with God too. Why else would he say, "Why have you brought this trouble on your servant? What have I done to displease you that you put the burden of all these people on me? Did I conceive all these people? Did I give them birth?" (Num. 11:11-12). Moses is engaged in a little reversal of the appeal he made to God in Exodus 32, where God called his people Moses' people (see Day 18).

Part of the comfort of a prayer like this is the fact that we may pray a prayer like this at all. Venting one's feelings isn't usually the catharsis we think it is. There is no healing inherent in merely spouting off; sometimes it makes things worse, reinforcing negative feelings by the negative feedback of what we hear ourselves say. The healing isn't in the venting, but in the one to whom we vent—God. To know he hears with mercy and without censure is of enormous comfort and encouragement.

But he also answers our "venting prayers." God shows mercy by giving Moses men to share the responsibility that has so weighed him down (Num. 11:16-18). He also punishes them, and while there really isn't a lot of comfort in seeing God punish people who have made life miserable for you—there is a sense of justice being done (Num. 11:31-35).

The best part of God's answer is the reminder that our struggles really aren't about us, but about him. He tells Moses to tell the people, "you have rejected the Lord, who is among you" (Num. 11:20). It's never ultimately about us, it's always about God. Life's burdens are heavy enough without the added burden of narcissism and self-pity. God's response relieves us of that load and yet gives us the dignity of knowing that our struggles bring us into the fellowship of God's sufferings (Col. 1:24; Phil. 3:10).

PRAYER: Thank you, Lord, that I can be real in my prayers, that I can vent my feelings to you and then watch you work by changing my attitude and helping me through my frustrations with others. I really want to know you, even if it means sharing in your sufferings.

DAY 28: OUTRAGEOUS GRACE
Six lines from "Prayer of a Soldier about to Die"

"But now that I've met you I'm not scared to die."

The following lines were found on the body of a dead American soldier killed in North Africa in 1944 during the Second World War. His name is not known.

Look, God, I have never spoken to you,
And now I want to say, 'How do you do?'
And see, God, they told me you did not exist,
And I, like a fool, believed all this.
Last night, from a shell hole, I saw your sky,
I figured that they had told me a lie.
Had I taken time before to see things you had made,
I'd sure have known they weren't calling a spade a spade.

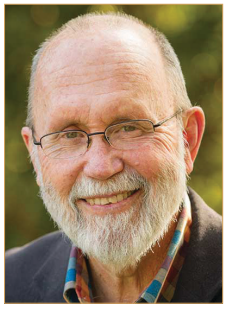

I wonder, God, if you would shake my poor hand?
Somehow I feel you would understand.
Strange I had to come to this hellish place
Before I had time to see your face.
Well, I guess, there isn't much more to say,
But I'm glad, God, that I met you today.
The zero hour will soon be here,
But I'm not afraid to know that you're near.

The signal has come—I shall soon have to go,
I like you lots—this I want you to know.
I'm sure this will be a horrible fight;
Who knows? I may come to your house tonight.
Though I wasn't friendly to you before,
I wonder, God, if you'd wait at your door?
Look, I'm shedding tears—me shedding tears!
Oh! I wish I'd known you these long, long years.
Well, I have to go now, dear God, Good-bye,
But now that I've met you I'm not scared to die.

Jesus met a man like this. He too asked for mercy very late in life. Perhaps he would have written some lines like these, but his hands were occupied. They were nailed to a cross, for he was being executed next to Jesus (Luke 23:42). It's never too late to open your heart to Jesus.

PRAYER: "Remember, O Lord, your great mercy and love, for they are from of old. Remember not the sins of my youth and my rebellious ways; according to your love remember me, for you are good, O Lord" (Ps. 25:6, 7).

Ten Minutes with God for Women: 365 Daily Devotions

Debbie Alsdorf

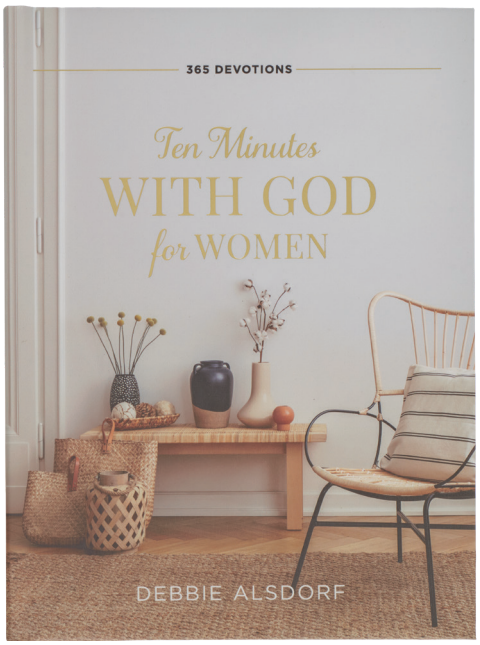

DEV298

9 781639 527625

Spending time with God is essential to growing in our faith. However, we all live busy, distracted lives, and it's easy to start and finish our day without ever reading the Bible or praying. Ten Minutes with God for Women provides a starting place to begin setting aside time every day to pray and to be encouraged by God's Word.

Debbie Alsdorf leads women through twelve themes (one for each month) related to our relationship with God. Each devotional includes a Bible passage, a personal reflection, points to remember, and a prayer. Spending even just ten minutes with God will provide perspective and strength for the rest of your day.

JANUARY 7

CARRIED BY GOD

I have upheld [you] since your birth, and have carried [you] since you were born. Even to your old age and gray hairs I am he, I am he who will sustain you. I have made you and I will carry you.

ISAIAH 46:3-4

As women, there are a multitude of things we can do to disguise our age. I get my roots painted brown every few weeks, but God knows the silver threads underneath, and promises to sustain me as I grow older. Age is not important to Him, as He promises to carry us from beginning to end. This brings such peace and a life-giving.

To know that God holds us since conception and still carries us to old age brings a relief that I cannot adequately express. The fact that God reminds us that He made us is a beautiful thing. Especially in our culture of self-made everything, it's easy to let the foundational and beautiful truth of being created by God and for God slip from our thoughts. And yet, it is because He made us that He is so deeply committed to us.

Sustain and carry are important here as well. To sustain is to give support, nourish, handle, tolerate, and abide. To carry is to move while supporting, to hold the weight or burden of. I love that God says He carries us—holding the weight of our problems and the challenges of our lives. Whatever burden you are holding today, know that God is holding you. There is so much beauty here. Let it sink in.

Today I will remember:

- God made me—exactly as I am—for His plan.
- God carries me from conception to last breath.
- God sustains me by nourishing me and supporting me in this life.

Lord, as I let this truth of Your care wash over my heart today, I am humbled by Your involvement in my life. Thank You for always being with me, from start to finish.

JANUARY 8

SEEN AND KNOWN

You have searched me, Lord, and you know me. You know when I sit and when I rise; you perceive my thoughts from afar. You discern my going out and my lying down; you are familiar with all my ways.

PSALM 139:1-3

During a season of depression, it occurred to me that I was getting tired of my own sad, bad news. Each time I repeated it, I felt another stab to the heart. One afternoon as I was reading Psalm 139, a new thought occurred to me. God knew my story. He knew details that I didn't even understand. He had been with me every step of the way. And not only did He know the current hurt that brought me face-to-face with a counselor, He knew my full story and the wounding that ultimately made me act and react the way I do. I sighed with relief that afternoon and began to trust the process of healing with a God who understands me completely.

The word familiar means one who is well acquainted with something. I found hope in connecting that truth to the dots in my life. God was well acquainted with everything about me, all the things that trigger me, my childhood trauma, and my adult hurts and hang-ups. He has been with me through it all.

Maybe you need to know that you are seen and known today. Even if people have hurt or disappointed you, God sees, and He knows. And because He completely gets you, He knows exactly what you need to move forward.

Today I will remember:

- God knows me.
- He knows my thoughts, even the thoughts that drift in and out.
- He is intimately acquainted with me and my history.

Father, You know everything about me—the stories, the hurts, and the happy times. You know what triggers me and what makes me tick. Because You know me fully, I now trust You completely.

Trusting God

"For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways," declares the Lord. "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts."

ISAIAH 55:8-9

One phone call is all it took to change our stepfamily forever. "I just got the news. She passed away earlier today," my husband, Randy, said. After a yearlong struggle with cancer, the beloved mom of my teenage stepchildren had passed. My stepchildren would now face life without her. The finality of Randy's words sent chills down my spine. My heart ached for them.

Randy and I had been praying for healing for his former wife. But that didn't happen. I knew the effects of the loss would soon be felt in our home. We had weathered some rough storms in our nine years as a stepfamily and were finally settling into comfortable relationships. I was thankful for our newfound harmony. Losing their mom would leave a cavernous hole in my stepchildren's hearts. It was only natural that our relationships might suffer.

The path before us lay unmapped. My mind was bombarded with questions that had no answers.

- Would the children move across state lines and come live with us?
- Could our home accommodate two more?
- How would they cope as they struggled to accept their mom was gone?
- What could we do to help with their troubled emotions?

I had to trust God.

Solutions didn't surface quickly. We waded through months of confusion and anxiety. At times, Randy and I didn't see eye to eye. Tension mounted. Tempers flared. My faith wavered as we faced trying circumstances I couldn't change.

Finally, I let go. I surrendered to God's plan, and I trusted His guiding hand.

My stepdaughter opted to continue college and didn't relocate. My stepson lived with his sister, younger half-brother, and stepdad for almost a year before finally moving in with us. During that time, we encountered uncertainty and questions. Peace came only as we gave up the need for control, trusting God with the outcome.

It's been almost two decades now since my stepchildren lost their mom. They endured a difficult season, but they found healing for their loss. They're both thriving as adults, and I'm thankful for healthy, loving relationships with them.

I still struggle with trusting God at times. It's difficult for me to let go. Too often, I want it to be my way, not His way. But I've learned He can be trusted, even when I don't understand. I know His ways are sovereign.

Help me, heavenly Father, to trust Your ways, even when I don't understand. Guide me through our tumultuous waters to sunnier days ahead.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

We can trust God, even when we don't understand His plan.

HOW TO GET STARTED RIGHT

He is like a tree planted
by streams of water,
which yields its fruit in season
and whose leaf does not wither.
Whatever he does prospers.
PSALM 1:3

Would you like to be blessed by God every day?

Psalm 1 tells us how blessing happens, so let's pay attention to God's recipe for success. As we study this psalm, we discover that blessedness relates to the way we live and the choices we make. It depends on the kind of people we are. From God's point of view, there are only two ways to live because there are two kinds of people in the world and only two kinds. There are the righteous, and then there are the wicked. Everyone in the world falls into those two categories. There is no "in-between" category. Psalm 1 shows us how the righteous live and why they are blessed. It also shows us the result of both ways of life.

Psalm 1 surprises many people because it begins not with the positive but with a negative. The blessing begins with what the righteous person does not do.

He does not walk in the counsel of the wicked.
He does not stand in the way of sinners.
He does not sit in the seat of mockers.

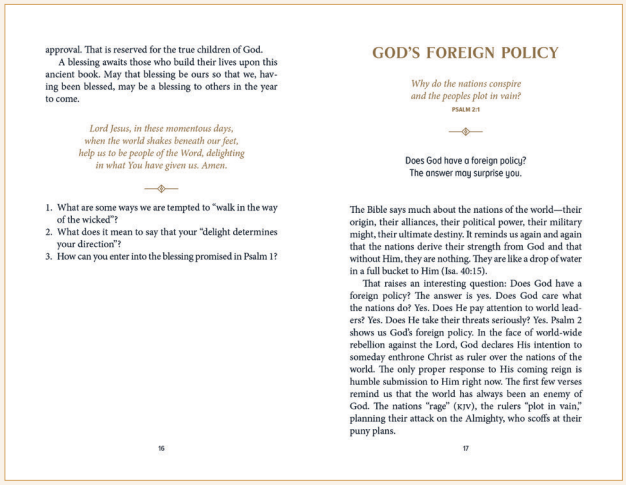

Blessings come not only from what we do, but also from what we don't do. Blessed people avoid certain things. And they avoid certain people and certain situations. They don't hang out just anywhere and they don't quickly buy into every line of thinking. They are very careful not to join themselves to the company of those who do not love the Lord.

Now we come to the positive side of the ledger. Having refused to walk in the way of evildoers, we instead focus on knowing God's Word. We do this because the best way to float rubbish out is to pour water in. You can't eliminate the garbage in your life simply by mental effort. You must replace the negative with something positive. The psalmist tells us the godly person "delights" in the law of the Lord. That means he loves the Word of God, the Holy Scriptures, the Bible. The word delight means to take great pleasure in. It has the idea of a consuming passion that controls your life.

Everyone "delights" in something. Some people delight in food. Others delight in a job or a hobby or a career. Some delight in a particular friendship. Many people delight in money, or the things money can buy. And many delight in evil pleasures and wrong desires. Mark this well. Your delight determines your direction.

The happiest people in the world are those whose lives are built on the Word of God. We can state that more forcefully. The only truly happy people in the world are those who follow the prescription of Psalm 1. Others may be happy in a temporary or worldly sense, but they do not know the joy and deep satisfaction that comes from living with God's approval. That is reserved for the true children of God.

A blessing awaits those who build their lives upon this ancient book. May that blessing be ours so that we, having been blessed, may be a blessing to others in the year to come.

Lord Jesus, in these momentous days,
when the world shakes beneath our feet,
help us to be people of the Word, delighting
in what You have given us. Amen.

1. What are some ways we are tempted to "walk in the way of the wicked"?
2. What does it mean to say that your "delight determines your direction"?
3. How can you enter into the blessing promised in Psalm 1?

16

GOD'S FOREIGN POLICY

Why do the nations conspire
and the peoples plot in vain?
PSALM 2:1

Does God have a foreign policy?
The answer may surprise you.

The Bible says much about the nations of the world—their origin, their alliances, their political power, their military might, their ultimate destiny. It reminds us again and again that the nations derive their strength from God and that without Him, they are nothing. They are like a drop of water in a full bucket to Him (Isa. 40:15).

That raises an interesting question: Does God have a foreign policy? The answer is yes. Does God care what the nations do? Yes. Does He pay attention to world leaders? Yes. Does He take their threats seriously? Yes. Psalm 2 shows us God's foreign policy. In the face of world-wide rebellion against the Lord, God declares His intention to someday enthrone Christ as ruler over the nations of the world. The only proper response to His coming reign is humble submission to Him right now. The first few verses remind us that the world has always been an enemy of God. The nations "rage" (KJV), the rulers "plot in vain," planning their attack on the Almighty, who scoffs at their puny plans.

We long to be welcomed—to be greeted with true delight and drawn into a place where we are wanted and valued. Jesus extends this kind of generous, warm-hearted welcome to anyone who will come to Him. Have you received the welcome of Jesus? If so, you have the glad privilege of extending His welcome to others through your life—and through your home. But you might hesitate. My home is too messy, too loud, too small. Hospitality isn't for me. Sound familiar? What if your understanding of home were transformed by the Bible's teaching about hospitality? Your messy, loud, small home could become the very place where people encounter the life-changing welcome of Jesus. The Welcoming Home encourages you to slow down and reflect on biblical truth that will reshape your perspective on the blessing and purpose of your home. The 52 devotions also provide practical tips and needed encouragement as you grow in extending loving, God-centered hospitality to others.

Sweet Tarts

– Gracie Malone –

Pretty much all the honest truth telling
there is in the world is done by children.
Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr.

A few weeks before Christmas, my four-year-old-grandson Montana and I were flipping through some albums that contained pictures of his cousins—the children in our son Matt's family. Even though he hadn't seen his cousins in a long time, he identified all four—Luke, Connor, Mary, and Abby. After naming the children and commenting on their dressy clothes, he pointed to the main character. "And there's Uncle Matt!"

Next Montana pointed at the rather dignified gentleman in the center of the picture. He turned his face toward mine and with a cute little wrinkle in his forehead asked, "Grandma Gracie, who is that guy?"

"Oh, that man is the minister. We were at church," I explained to him.

Montana seemed confused. "The mister?"

"No, honey, the minister—you know, the preacher."

28

"Oh!" The little guy seemed to understand as he turned the page.

Then he began naming the two people in the next shot. "There's Uncle Matt, and there's the creature."

Later I found myself chuckling about what Montana had said.

Shortly afterward, I had an interesting conversation with Montana's little brother, Myles. It seems Myles had developed a great relationship with the leadership at his church back home. I'd already heard that he never wanted to miss a single meeting at Fellowship of the Woodlands. I can't say I blame him when I think about the kid-friendly events that take place on that campus. Why, the excitement begins as soon as his parents pull into the enormous parking lot and then ride to the front door of the auditorium aboard a train made of brightly colored barrels. After they make their way inside and find a seat, serious business takes place.

Myles's fervor for toddler-style worship became evident one evening when our son Mike and daughter-in-law Jeanna were feeling a bit ambivalent about going to church. After lounging around the house most of Saturday afternoon, they couldn't get motivated to get dressed and go. Myles would hear nothing of it. He overheard their should-we-should-we-not conversation and decided for them.

"Well," he declared, "I'm going! You guys better get ready." He ran to his room and started changing clothes. What could Mike and Jeanna do but pull on some clean clothes and run to the car? When Jeanna told me this story later, my chest swelled with pride until I feared the buttons might pop off my blouse. My "strong-willed" little grandson had made a "strong" decision in the right direction and proved a truth that Jesus taught his disciples centuries ago. There are many times in our lives when "a little child shall lead them."

"I thank you, Father, Master of heaven and earth, that you hid these things from the know-it-alls
and showed them to these innocent newcomers.
Yes, Father, it pleased you to do it this way."

LUKE 10:21 MSG

The Magical White Sword

– Heidi McLaughlin –

Anything large enough for a wish to light upon,
is large enough to hang a prayer upon.
George MacDonald, from Unspoken Sermons

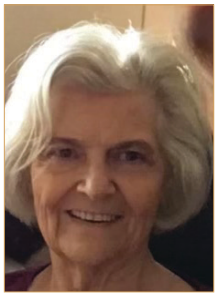

When my grandson Alex was three years old, he loved swords. Of course, his parents would not buy him one, but he improvised with anything he could find—a stick, creatively constructed LEGOs, or a wooden spoon. Alex is the middle child in a family of three energetic boys, and even though he was the quiet one, he had a way of tugging at my heart.

When the boys came to visit us that summer, I promised all three of them a trip to an adventure park. As soon as they arrived, Alex jumped out of the van and ran to me. He looked at me with his big eyes and said, "Nana, when can we go to Old MacDonald's Farm?"

Saturday morning arrived, and we were on our way. As we walked into the building to buy our tickets, Alex spotted a box on the floor. The box was full of swords of every color, size, and shape—and I could see Alex wanted one. I said to him what every good Nana says, "Alex, if you are a good boy

Mom is a Genius

– Kim Cusimano –

Necessity may be the mother of invention, but ingenuity is the bombshell of success.
Phillip Gary Smith

When my children were younger, I loved the hunt for quality toys and name-brand clothing at garage sales. You might say I was thrifty—but with a touch of class.

One morning I walked my kindergarten son to the elementary school just a block from our home when I saw a familiar sign on the next corner—yes, it was a garage sale just a short distance past the school—a Friday morning treat. I hurried home with the two toddlers in tow, loaded them in the car, and got them dropped off at preschool.

When I arrived home, I didn't see a need to drive the car such a short distance to the sale, only to jockey for a parking spot. It was a beautiful day, and walking would be good exercise.

Then I made my second trip down the street for the morning, alone this time, anticipating the treasures I would find. As it turned out, no children's items were there. The options were mostly housewares and furniture. I looked around and quickly noticed the "find." I had been on the lookout for a different couch for our den. The price was right, but I didn't have a truck to transport it to our house. I certainly didn't want to miss the opportunity for a piece of furniture that would fit our space and budget so perfectly.

I immediately paid in full, determined I could find a friend with a truck to help me. The friendly people agreed to hold my purchase. I walked back home, wondering who I could call.

Entering through the side garage door, I noticed our children's wagon—and I had an epiphany. If I could get the couch centered and balanced on top of the wagon, I was convinced it would be easy to pull it down the street and get it back to our house without additional assistance.

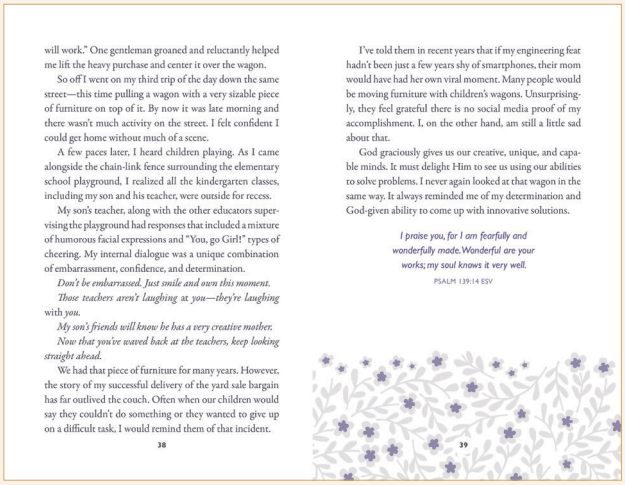

I wasted no time. The idea and thrill of being able to do it myself was gratifying.

My heart was racing as I embraced the significance of the moment:

I am Mom. Hear me roar!
Have wagon will conquer.
Moms are creative geniuses.

I saw the bewilderment on the faces of people in the yard when I pulled the wagon up and said, "I'm here to pick up the couch. If someone could please help me lift it and center the wagon under it, I think this mode of transportation will work." One gentleman groaned and reluctantly helped me lift the heavy purchase and center it over the wagon.

So off I went on my third trip of the day down the same street—this time pulling a wagon with a very sizable piece of furniture on top of it. By now it was late morning and there wasn't much activity on the street. I felt confident I could get home without much of a scene.

A few paces later, I heard children playing. As I came alongside the chain-link fence surrounding the elementary school playground, I realized all the kindergarten classes, including my son and his teacher, were outside for recess.

My son's teacher, along with the other educators supervising the playground had responses that included a mixture of humorous facial expressions and "You, go Girl!" types of cheering. My internal dialogue was a unique combination of embarrassment, confidence, and determination.

Don't be embarrassed. Just smile and own this moment.
Those teachers aren't laughing at you—they're laughing with you.
My son's friends will know he has a very creative mother.
Now that you've waved back at the teachers, keep looking straight ahead.

We had that piece of furniture for many years. However, the story of my successful delivery of the yard sale bargain has far outlived the couch. Often when our children would say they couldn't do something or they wanted to give up on a difficult task, I would remind them of that incident.

38

I've told them in recent years that if my engineering feat hadn't been just a few years shy of smartphones, their mom would have had her own viral moment. Many people would be moving furniture with children's wagons. Unsurprisingly, they feel grateful there is no social media proof of my accomplishment. I, on the other hand, am still a little sad about that.

God graciously gives us our creative, unique, and capable minds. It must delight Him to see us using our abilities to solve problems. I never again looked at that wagon in the same way. It always reminded me of my determination and God-given ability to come up with innovative solutions.

I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made. Wonderful are your works; my soul knows it very well.
PSALM 139:14 ESV

Supply and Demand

– Vicki Caruana –

If you were reimbursed for teaching materials, you'd be rich.

Kimberly Chambers

Each school year has its own ebb and flow. In my experience, the flow turns into a slow trickle sometime around the end of February. Not only does our enthusiasm wane, so do our supplies! My husband is still mystified that there isn't some secret supply closet for teachers to go to when they run out of copy paper, pencils, crayons, construction paper, chalk or dry-erase markers, legal pads, index cards, envelopes, and anything else you might find in a school—including toilet paper!

At the end of each school year, I tried desperately to project (within my allotted budget, that is) what supplies I would need to carry us through the next school year. Everything—down to paper clips and Scotch tape—had to be itemized in the budget. When the supplies came in at the beginning of the year (if it all came in), we carefully distributed the appropriate number of supplies to each teacher. Since teachers are very territorial by nature, any mistake in distribution, no matter how slight, could result in frustration, lost items, and mayhem!

I remember a time when I ended up with one more box of staples than I ordered. As a beginning teacher, I did not realize the severe ramifications of such an oversight. I was happily organizing my supplies in my classroom when I heard a not-so-friendly "Ah-hem!" from behind. I turned to see one of my colleagues, her supply invoice and red pen in one hand and the other extended in expectation.

"I think you have something that belongs to me," she said with a snarl.

"I don't think so," I replied in complete ignorance. Whoever said ignorance is bliss?

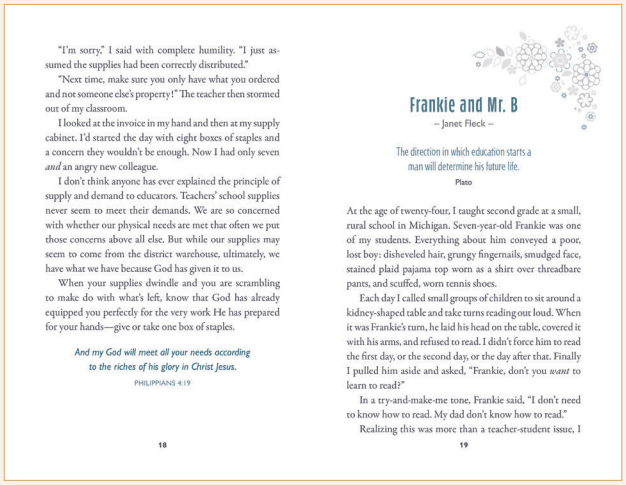

"Let me see your invoice," she said, her extended hand now grasping in desperation.

"Certainly," I said. I handed her my invoice and continued to stack my supplies.

"Aha!" she exclaimed in triumph. "If my calculations are correct, and I'm sure they are, you've stacked one too many boxes of staples, young lady."

I guess my inexperience combined with my charming personality didn't matter. I counted the staples for myself and discovered, much to my dismay, that I did indeed have one box too many. I removed the box from the neatly organized shelf and handed it over gingerly, afraid my hand was going to be slapped.

16 17

"I'm sorry," I said with complete humility. "I just assumed the supplies had been correctly distributed."

"Next time, make sure you only have what you ordered and not someone else's property!" The teacher then stormed out of my classroom.

I looked at the invoice in my hand and then at my supply cabinet. I'd started the day with eight boxes of staples and a concern they wouldn't be enough. Now I had only seven and an angry new colleague.

I don't think anyone has ever explained the principle of supply and demand to educators. Teachers' school supplies never seem to meet their demands. We are so concerned with whether our physical needs are met that often we put those concerns above all else. But while our supplies may seem to come from the district warehouse, ultimately, we have what we have because God has given it to us.

When your supplies dwindle and you are scrambling to make do with what's left, know that God has already equipped you perfectly for the very work He has prepared for your hands—give or take one box of staples.

And my God will meet all your needs according to the riches of his glory in Christ Jesus.

Frankie and Mr. B

– Janet Fleck –

The direction in which education starts a man will determine his future life.

Plato

At the age of twenty-four, I taught second grade at a small, rural school in Michigan. Seven-year-old Frankie was one of my students. Everything about him conveyed a poor, lost boy: disheveled hair, grungy fingernails, smudged face, stained plaid pajama top worn as a shirt over threadbare pants, and scuffed, worn tennis shoes.

Each day I called small groups of children to sit around a kidney-shaped table and take turns reading out loud. When it was Frankie's turn, he laid his head on the table, covered it with his arms, and refused to read. I didn't force him to read the first day, or the second day, or the day after that. Finally I pulled him aside and asked, "Frankie, don't you want to learn to read?"

In a try-and-make-me tone, Frankie said, "I don't need to know how to read. My dad don't know how to read."

Realizing this was more than a teacher-student issue, I

I Love Chocolate!
– Carol Kent –

God loves to use our bad habits to bring about His good.
Marnie Swedberg

I love chocolate. I've told my husband that when I die, I'd like to be dipped in chocolate and shipped off for burial in Hershey, Pennsylvania. I live in a house with another chocoholic, so I have a special hiding place for it. I keep some in the refrigerator. There's almost always some in the freezer. I keep a little in the Halloween treat candy jar on the top shelf of the cupboard. And a tin labeled Borwick's Baking Powder usually contains semisweet chocolate chips reserved for when it's time to fold them into the cookie dough, if they last that long.

I was home recently and had planned to spend the day working. After jumping out of bed, I donned a pair of old jeans and a faded, well-worn sweater. I hurriedly brushed my hair and didn't put on any makeup. (Even relatives might not have recognized me. My sister Paula has a make-up case with printing on the side that says, "My face is in this bag." I need that bag.)

Seated at my desk, I opened the Bible to Matthew 5, the text for my next retreat message, and began a careful reading of the Beatitudes. I came to verse 6 and read, "Blessed are those who hunger." What do you guess I thought about?

I went to the refrigerator—no chocolate! I tried the freezer—no chocolate. The Halloween treat candy jar, too, was empty. Instinctively, I went to the pantry and pulled out the Borwick's Baking Powder can, knowing I had purchased chocolate chips just the week before. I reached inside and pulled a note from the bottom of the can. "Sorry, honey, I beat you to it!"

I was disappointed. Obviously, the Lord doesn't want me to have any chocolate this morning. I reluctantly went back to my desk to concentrate on message preparation. After fifteen minutes I thought, Why, it's only three miles to the store. I could be there and back in no time at all and satisfy this ridiculous craving.

After making the decision to go to the store, I caught a glimpse of myself in the mirror. I didn't want to be seen looking this way. It took me at least half an hour to apply makeup and put on appropriate clothing. So when I got to the store, I decided to make the trip worth my while. I picked up the largest Hershey's bar with almonds I could find. Then I grabbed a giant-size Cadbury Caramello. (For those not into this sort of thing, this is chocolate and caramel in one mouthwatering bite!) On my way to the checkout, I picked up the biggest bag of M&M'S on the shelf.

As I walked out of the store and crossed the parking lot to my car, I consumed one-third of the Hershey's; on the three-mile trip home, I finished it off. I picked up the Cadbury. Thinking quickly, I realized that the M&M'S would taste terrific with a big pot of coffee. I envisioned a delightful study time, sipping coffee and eating M&M'S—one by one, all day. While the coffee in my drip pot worked its way to the bottom, I continued devouring the Cadbury. When I heard the final gurgle, signaling that the coffee was ready, I was just finishing off the very last bite of my second sixteen-ounce candy bar.

This was the moment I realized I was so sick I could hardly move.

I'm ashamed to admit it, but that day—a day I had reserved for Bible study, prayer, and preparation for ministry—I wasted hours of precious time over a ridiculous human craving. It wasn't the first time.

An important lesson was learned the hard way. A bad habit can be stopped by a better decision the next time temptation knocks on my door.

So if you're serious about living this new resurrection life with Christ, act like it. Pursue the things over which Christ presides. Don't shuffle along, eyes to the ground, absorbed with the things right in front of you. Look up, and be alert to what is going on around Christ .... And that means killing off everything connected with that way of death: ... doing whatever you feel like whenever you feel like it, and grabbing whatever attracts your fancy. That's a life shaped by things and feelings instead of by God.

I Got Your Back

– Dr. Nancy Meyer –

A sister is a little bit of childhood that can never be lost.

Marion C. Garretty

Until my identical twin sister, Stephanie, and I were in the fifth grade, our mom always dressed us in matching outfits. We looked exactly alike at that time (and we still do, apart from our hairstyles); even our voices sounded the same. The only difference between us was caused by an injury I got during the emergency C-section when I was born.

My parents didn't know they were having twins until we were born, and they couldn't tell us apart until we were six months old and our personalities started coming out. They would lift our little gowns, looking for my tiny scar, to keep track of which of us was fed, which needed to be changed, and which was ready for a nap.

One weekend our mom took us with her on a shopping trip. She was looking for an outfit for a special occasion, and we got to tag along—great fun for two six-year-olds. Window displays of fancy dresses lured us into this little boutique that smelled heavenly from women's perfumes.

Everything sparkled from the sunlight cascading through large glass windows, especially the gorgeous sequin dresses. It seemed like a place designed for royalty.

A step divided the back of the store from the front. The back area was slightly elevated, and Stephanie and I thought it was great fun to have that step in the middle of the store. While our mom tried on clothes, my sister and I walked back and forth, doing laps up and down the step. On our circular route around the store, we zigzagged through clothes racks and said hi to other patrons. We were well-behaved but very energetic.

One customer who enjoyed watching us play offered me a stick of gum but not Stephanie. I immediately asked, "Can I have one more?"

The woman looked confused at my seeming greed. "Why?" she asked.

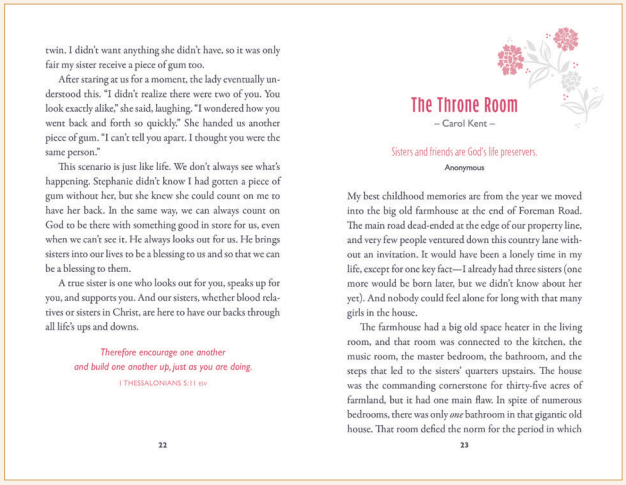

I politely responded, "For my sister."

She looked even more confused. "I don't see your sister, sweetie."

Mustering my most convincing dose of six-year-old courage, I explained that I needed another piece of gum for my identical twin sister, who was with me in the store. But she wasn't buying my explanation. I called Stephanie over so the woman could see us together.

The woman's mouth dropped open in astonishment when I presented my sister to her. I was grinning from ear to ear. I was proud of Stephanie, and I was proud of being a twin. I didn't want anything she didn't have, so it was only fair my sister receive a piece of gum too.

After staring at us for a moment, the lady eventually understood this. "I didn't realize there were two of you. You look exactly alike," she said, laughing. "I wondered how you went back and forth so quickly." She handed us another piece of gum. "I can't tell you apart. I thought you were the same person."

This scenario is just like life. We don't always see what's happening. Stephanie didn't know I had gotten a piece of gum without her, but she knew she could count on me to have her back. In the same way, we can always count on God to be there with something good in store for us, even when we can't see it. He always looks out for us. He brings sisters into our lives to be a blessing to us and so that we can be a blessing to them.

A true sister is one who looks out for you, speaks up for you, and supports you. And our sisters, whether blood relatives or sisters in Christ, are here to have our backs through all life's ups and downs.

Therefore encourage one another and build one another up, just as you are doing.

The Throne Room

– Carol Kent –

Sisters and friends are God's life preservers.

Anonymous

My best childhood memories are from the year we moved into the big old farmhouse at the end of Foreman Road. The main road dead-ended at the edge of our property line, and very few people ventured down this country lane without an invitation. It would have been a lonely time in my life, except for one key fact—I already had three sisters (one more would be born later, but we didn't know about her yet). And nobody could feel alone for long with that many girls in the house.

The farmhouse had a big old space heater in the living room, and that room was connected to the kitchen, the music room, the master bedroom, the bathroom, and the steps that led to the sisters' quarters upstairs. The house was the commanding cornerstone for thirty-five acres of farmland, but it had one main flaw. In spite of numerous bedrooms, there was only one bathroom in that gigantic old house. That room defied the norm for the period in which

Rich Miller

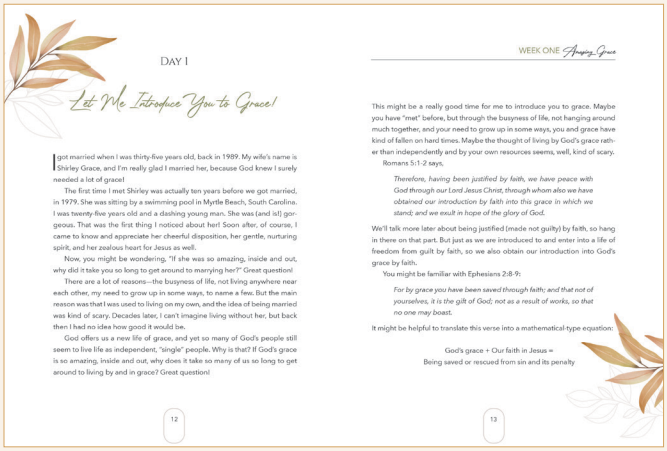

GB297

9 781639 528998

What does the grace of God mean for you today? Most importantly, it means that you don't need to walk with your head down, trying to prove you're worthy of God's love. Jesus has already secured your place as a beloved child of God. Grace also means that God's strength is holding you and keeping you as you walk through the joys and challenges each day brings. The 40 devotions in The Wonder of Grace will lead you back to your Bible to refresh your perspective on God's grace. This devotional is also a wonderful gift to encourage someone who is just beginning their Christian journey or who may be discouraged in their walk of faith.

DAY 1

Let Me Introduce You to Grace!

I got married when I was thirty-five years old, back in 1989. My wife's name is Shirley Grace, and I'm really glad I married her, because God knew I surely needed a lot of grace!

The first time I met Shirley was actually ten years before we got married, in 1979. She was sitting by a swimming pool in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. I was twenty-five years old and a dashing young man. She was (and is!) gorgeous. That was the first thing I noticed about her! Soon after, of course, I came to know and appreciate her cheerful disposition, her gentle, nurturing spirit, and her zealous heart for Jesus as well.

Now, you might be wondering, "If she was so amazing, inside and out, why did it take you so long to get around to marrying her?" Great question!

There are a lot of reasons—the busyness of life, not living anywhere near each other, my need to grow up in some ways, to name a few. But the main reason was that I was used to living on my own, and the idea of being married was kind of scary. Decades later, I can't imagine living without her, but back then I had no idea how good it would be.

God offers us a new life of grace, and yet so many of God's people still seem to live life as independent, "single" people. Why is that? If God's grace is so amazing, inside and out, why does it take so many of us so long to get around to living by and in grace? Great question!

WEEK ONE Amazing Grace

This might be a really good time for me to introduce you to grace. Maybe you have "met" before, but through the busyness of life, not hanging around much together, and your need to grow up in some ways, you and grace have kind of fallen on hard times. Maybe the thought of living by God's grace rather than independently and by your own resources seems, well, kind of scary.

Romans 5:1-2 says,

Therefore, having been justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom also we have obtained our introduction by faith into this grace in which we stand; and we exult in hope of the glory of God.

We'll talk more later about being justified (made not guilty) by faith, so hang in there on that part. But just as we are introduced to and enter into a life of freedom from guilt by faith, so we also obtain our introduction into God's grace by faith.

You might be familiar with Ephesians 2:8-9:

For by grace you have been saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God; not as a result of works, so that no one may boast.

It might be helpful to translate this verse into a mathematical-type equation:

God's grace + Our faith in Jesus =
Being saved or rescued from sin and its penalty

13

THE WONDER OF GRACE

THOUGHT TO CHEW ON

Living by grace doesn't end when you come to Christ; that's just the beginning!

TRUTH TO REMEMBER

"Through [Christ] also we have obtained our introduction by faith into this grace in which we stand." (Romans 5:2)

QUESTION TO MULL OVER

How would you describe your relationship with grace? Strangers? Polite acquaintances? Close friends? Falling in love? Not in a relationship? Something else?

Talking it over with God

Father, it's really easy to fall back into thinking that this life is pretty much up to me. After all, almost from the time I was born, the whole world system is designed for me to learn to live life on my own, to not be dependent on anyone, to be "grown up," which translates into becoming increasingly self-reliant and self-sufficient. I know that there's no way I can save myself, and so in that way it's kind of easy to see how much I need You. But sometimes it feels like a sign of weakness to have to live by faith in Your grace every moment of every day. I guess I have to admit that my relationship with grace needs some work. I really hope You can be patient with me as I learn to walk by this grace in which I now stand. Are You gracious enough to not get mad at me even though I start out at a crawl? The Bible says You are kind and patient and all that, but sometimes I doubt. Thanks for listening. Amen.

Gospel Courage is a 40-day devotional by Willie Robertson encouraging every follower of Jesus to become a "gospeler"—a person who is zealous to share his or her faith with others. The Gospel is simply the good news that Jesus lived, died, and rose to life to rescue us from sin and death. Willie shares his own story of how this truth transformed his family, and he encourages you to become confident to share your story of faith with others. The Gospel gives us courage because it has given us hope. We know firsthand that it is good news! Willie explores key passages that help you be prepared to explain the Gospel message. He also offers practical insights and encouragement gleaned from his own experience as a gospeler. If you have seen the loving work of Jesus in your life but feel uncertain how to share the good news with others, this guide will inspire courage and confidence.

DAY 4

SEARCH AND RESCUE

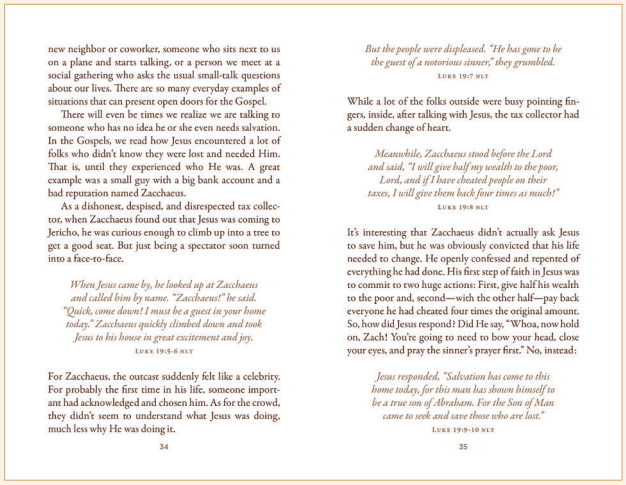

The majority of Jesus' contact with people was one-on-one, up-close-and-personal moments.

When a person is presumed to be lost and in trouble, search and rescue begins. Because of the many different places people can go missing, there are first responders that know how to search in the woods, water, mountains, and from the air. They jump into action to try and find the person as quickly as possible. In any of those situations, search is the action, but rescue is the goal.

There's a strong chance that, like me, you aren't trained to be on a search and rescue team. That said, if someone we love goes missing, of course, we would do everything possible to find them. But what about people we don't know? What if a first responder asked you for help to find a total stranger? Let's be honest, lots of folks would answer, "Sorry, I'm not trained for that. And I don't know who this person is anyway, so I'll leave it to the professionals."

Like we talked about yesterday, it's interesting how we can take that same mindset about sharing the Gospel. Yet, Scripture teaches us that those who follow Jesus are also team members on His spiritual search and rescue mission. Besides sharing Him with our family and friends who don't know the Good News, there are going to be times when God does prompt us to talk to people we don't know. For example, there's the conversation with a new neighbor or coworker, someone who sits next to us on a plane and starts talking, or a person we meet at a social gathering who asks the usual small-talk questions about our lives. There are so many everyday examples of situations that can present open doors for the Gospel.

There will even be times we realize we are talking to someone who has no idea he or she even needs salvation. In the Gospels, we read how Jesus encountered a lot of folks who didn't know they were lost and needed Him. That is, until they experienced who He was. A great example was a small guy with a big bank account and a bad reputation named Zacchaeus.

As a dishonest, despised, and disrespected tax collector, when Zacchaeus found out that Jesus was coming to Jericho, he was curious enough to climb up into a tree to get a good seat. But just being a spectator soon turned into a face-to-face.

When Jesus came by, he looked up at Zacchaeus and called him by name. "Zacchaeus!" he said. "Quick, come down! I must be a guest in your home today." Zacchaeus quickly climbed down and took Jesus to his house in great excitement and joy.

LUKE 19:5-6 NLT

For Zacchaeus, the outcast suddenly felt like a celebrity. For probably the first time in his life, someone important had acknowledged and chosen him. As for the crowd, they didn't seem to understand what Jesus was doing, much less why He was doing it.

34

But the people were displeased. "He has gone to be the guest of a notorious sinner," they grumbled.

LUKE 19:7 NLT

While a lot of the folks outside were busy pointing fingers, inside, after talking with Jesus, the tax collector had a sudden change of heart.

Meanwhile, Zacchaeus stood before the Lord and said, "I will give half my wealth to the poor, Lord, and if I have cheated people on their taxes, I will give them back four times as much!"

LUKE 19:8 NLT

It's interesting that Zacchaeus didn't actually ask Jesus to save him, but he was obviously convicted that his life needed to change. He openly confessed and repented of everything he had done. His first step of faith in Jesus was to commit to two huge actions: First, give half his wealth to the poor and, second—with the other half—pay back everyone he had cheated four times the original amount. So, how did Jesus respond? Did He say, "Whoa, now hold on, Zach! You're going to need to bow your head, close your eyes, and pray the sinner's prayer first." No, instead:

Jesus responded, "Salvation has come to this home today, for this man has shown himself to be a true son of Abraham. For the Son of Man came to seek and save those who are lost."

LUKE 19:9-10 NLT

My Wife's Work Week

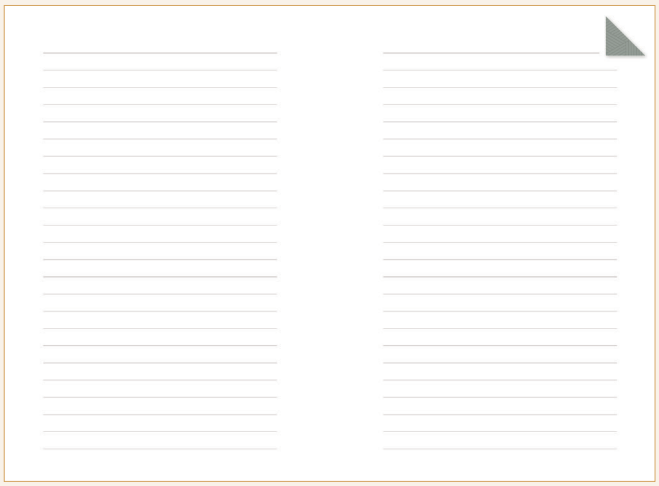

COLOSSIANS 3:23-24

Dear Lord,

Thank You for all the abilities You have gifted to my wife. She amazes me with how much she is capable of handling. Her mind is sharp and her body is strong to be able to work as much as she does. May You open her eyes so that she sees her value in all the abilities You have given to her. I pray that You give her endurance this week. If ever she feels faint, tired, or drained, may Your Holy Spirit anoint her with relief and comfort. Help her to feel rested and give her time to be able to take breaks from her work so that she is rejuvenated. Help me to step in and encourage her with words of affirmation and appreciation so that she knows what she does is valuable. I pray no matter how busy her work week is, she is able to persevere with cheerfulness knowing confidently that she is serving and honoring You. Please fill her heart with patience for those who are near her while she works. Lord, give my wife a desire to share with me about her day and all that she did. Help me to be a good listener. My hope is that we never allow our work to define how we treat each other. Help both of us to communicate any frustrations that stem from work, but then let go of them so that they do not cripple our intimacy.

In Jesus' name, AMEN!

Find Joy: A Woman's Devotional to Find True Joy in All Circumstances

Shaunti Feldhahn

GB289

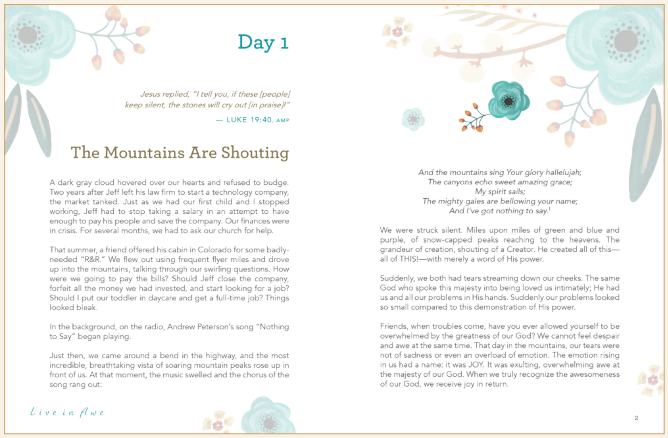

9 781639 527656

The Bible tells us to "rejoice always," but can we really find joy when we are worried about our finances, our relationships, or our future?

The answer is a resounding, "Yes!" Shaunti's 60-day devotional, Find Joy, will guide you on a journey to transform your thinking and to find Christ-focused delight even in the midst of everyday struggles and worries. Joy is not a positive-thinking exercise. It is an intentional choice to trust God that will transform your mind and heart.

Day 1

Jesus replied, "I tell you, if these [people] keep silent, the stones will cry out [in praise]!"
— LUKE 19:40, AMP

The Mountains Are Shouting

A dark gray cloud hovered over our hearts and refused to budge. Two years after Jeff left his law firm to start a technology company, the market tanked. Just as we had our first child and I stopped working, Jeff had to stop taking a salary in an attempt to have enough to pay his people and save the company. Our finances were in crisis. For several months, we had to ask our church for help.

That summer, a friend offered his cabin in Colorado for some badly-needed "R&R." We flew out using frequent flyer miles and drove up into the mountains, talking through our swirling questions. How were we going to pay the bills? Should Jeff close the company, forfeit all the money we had invested, and start looking for a job? Should I put our toddler in daycare and get a full-time job? Things looked bleak.

In the background, on the radio, Andrew Peterson's song "Nothing to Say" began playing.

Just then, we came around a bend in the highway, and the most incredible, breathtaking vista of soaring mountain peaks rose up in front of us. At that moment, the music swelled and the chorus of the song rang out:

And the mountains sing Your glory hallelujah;
The canyons echo sweet amazing grace;
My spirit sails;
The mighty gales are bellowing your name;
And I've got nothing to say.[1]

We were struck silent. Miles upon miles of green and blue and purple, of snow-capped peaks reaching to the heavens. The grandeur of creation, shouting of a Creator. He created all of this—all of THIS!—with merely a word of His power.

Suddenly, we both had tears streaming down our cheeks. The same God who spoke this majesty into being loved us intimately; He had us and all our problems in His hands. Suddenly our problems looked so small compared to this demonstration of His power.

Friends, when troubles come, have you ever allowed yourself to be overwhelmed by the greatness of our God? We cannot feel despair and awe at the same time. That day in the mountains, our tears were not of sadness or even an overload of emotion. The emotion rising in us had a name; it was JOY. It was exulting, overwhelming awe at the majesty of our God. When we truly recognize the awesomeness of our God, we receive joy in return.

Reflect

Have you ever had an awareness of the overwhelming majesty and power of our God? If so, describe that moment. The next time you are overwhelmed with worries, how might calling that moment to mind allow you to trade worries for joy?

"A man can no more diminish God's glory by refusing to worship Him than a lunatic can put out the sun by scribbling 'darkness' on the walls of his cell."

Jesus the High Road Leader: Follow the Path He Wants Us to Travel

John C. Maxwell & Chris Hodges

GB250

What road will you take?

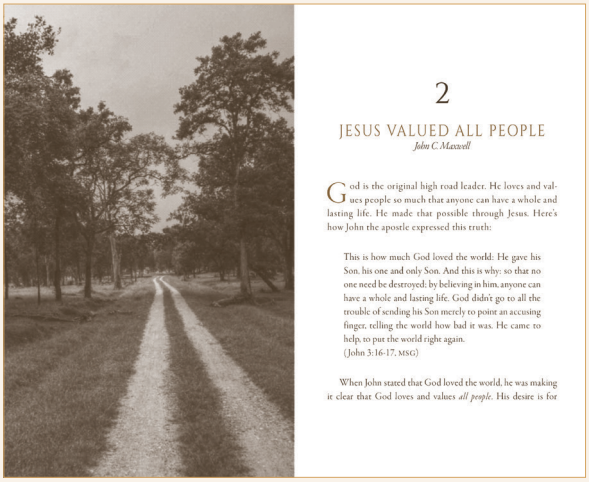

Jesus said, "Follow me," but how are we to follow Him in a divided world where there is so much bitterness and anger? How can we love God and love our neighbor as ourselves? We can do it in the same way Jesus did—by taking the high road!

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus told people to love their enemies, turn the other cheek, and go the extra mile. What He said can be summed up as "Take the high road."

Best-selling authors John C. Maxwell and Chris Hodges show how every step Jesus took on earth was on the high road, and they explain how you can walk that same path. When you do, you become more like Jesus, and you become salt and light in a world that desperately needs it.

JESUS VALUED ALL PEOPLE

John C. Maxwell

God is the original high road leader. He loves and values people so much that anyone can have a whole and lasting life. He made that possible through Jesus. Here's how John the apostle expressed this truth:

> This is how much God loved the world: He gave his Son, his one and only Son. And this is why: so that no one need be destroyed; by believing in him, anyone can have a whole and lasting life. God didn't go to all the trouble of sending his Son merely to point an accusing finger, telling the world how bad it was. He came to help, to put the world right again.
> (John 3:16-17, MSG)

When John stated that God loved the world, he was making it clear that God loves and values all people. His desire is for everyone to be saved, not to condemn them. Follow the footsteps of Jesus throughout the Gospels and you will conclude that Jesus valued everyone. We can become like Jesus when we follow his example of loving and valuing all people.

24 JESUS THE HIGH ROAD LEADER

WHEN JOHN STATED THAT GOD LOVED THE WORLD, HE WAS MAKING IT CLEAR THAT GOD LOVES AND VALUES ALL PEOPLE.

VALUING PEOPLE HELPS YOU SEE THEIR POTENTIAL

Jesus was always for the "outsiders." He was always looking for the one who was overlooked. He saw potential in those who seemingly had little to offer.

- Jesus looked at fishermen and believed they could be leaders.
- Jesus looked at Zacchaeus and believed he could become honest.
- Jesus looked at Lazarus and believed he could be raised.
- Jesus looked at the Samaritan woman and believed she had value.

JESUS VALUED ALL PEOPLE 25

- Jesus looked at the sick and believed they could be healed.
- Jesus looked at the thief and believed he could be forgiven.

Jesus saw people differently than others did. He looked beyond their problems and saw their potential. Most people see others as they are, with their shortcomings and sin. They ask, "Why do they behave like that?" Jesus looked beyond their problems and saw their possibilities. He asked, "How can I help them focus on their possibilities?"

This is what I know: God loves you more than you love yourself. He values you more than you value yourself. He also encourages you more than you encourage yourself. For anything negative that we can say to ourselves, God has a positive response for us:

You say: It's impossible.
God says: All things are possible (Luke 18:27).

You say: I'm too tired.
God says: I will give you rest (Matthew 11:28-30).

You say: Nobody really loves me.
God says: I love you (John 3:16).

Ancient of Days

Until the Ancient of Days came and pronounced judgment in favor of the holy people of the Most High, and the time came when they possessed the kingdom.
—DANIEL 7:22

A new pilot was flying his private plane when the weather took a turn for the worse. Inexperienced in instrument landing, he began to panic. That's when a stern voice came over the control tower radio saying the words, "You obey the instructions. We'll take care of the obstructions."

When people who know more than we do are put in place to ensure our safety and well-being—and that of the people around us—we do well to trust and obey them. Yet we don't always react well to authority (sometimes with good reason). We may respond with fear, frustration, indifference, or distrust. Young or old, humans naturally don't like being told what to do—even by God.

Verses 9, 13, and 22 of Daniel 7 are the only places God is referred to as the Ancient of Days. They tell us that God existed before the beginning of time, that He has all wisdom and knowledge, and that He has supreme authority and dominion over all creation. God deserves our reverence at all times.

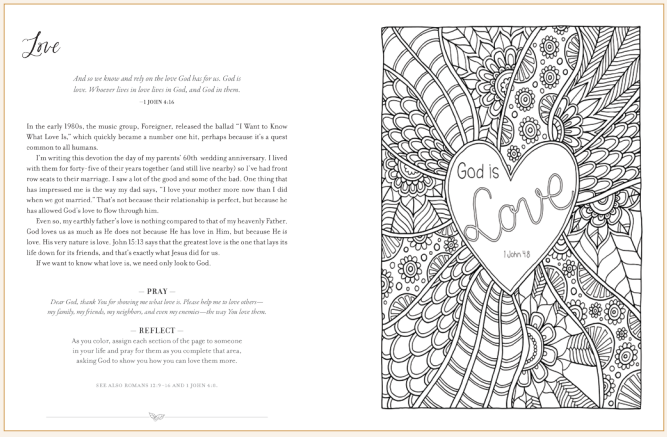

— PRAY —

Dear God, help me to understand what it means that You are the Ancient of Days. Please help me recognize and respect Your sovereignty over the world and over my life.

— REFLECT —

As you color, reflect on your response to God's authority over your life. In what ways do you honor Him? In what ways could you honor Him more?

Love

And so we know and rely on the love God has for us. God is love. Whoever lives in love lives in God, and God in them.
—1 JOHN 4:16

In the early 1980s, the music group, Foreigner, released the ballad "I Want to Know What Love Is," which quickly became a number one hit, perhaps because it's a quest common to all humans.

I'm writing this devotion the day of my parents' 60th wedding anniversary. I lived with them for forty-five of their years together (and still live nearby) so I've had front row seats to their marriage. I saw a lot of the good and some of the bad. One thing that has impressed me is the way my dad says, "I love your mother more now than I did when we got married." That's not because their relationship is perfect, but because he has allowed God's love to flow through him.

Even so, my earthly father's love is nothing compared to that of my heavenly Father. God loves us as much as He does not because He has love in Him, but because He is love. His very nature is love. John 15:13 says that the greatest love is the one that lays its life down for its friends, and that's exactly what Jesus did for us.

If we want to know what love is, we need only look to God.

— PRAY —

Dear God, thank You for showing me what love is. Please help me to love others—my family, my friends, my neighbors, and even my enemies—the way You love them.

— REFLECT —

As you color, assign each section of the page to someone in your life and pray for them as you complete that area, asking God to show you how you can love them more.

GRIEF JOURNEY

Whoever dwells in the shelter of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord, "He is my refuge and my fortress, my God, in whom I trust."

PSALM 91:1-2

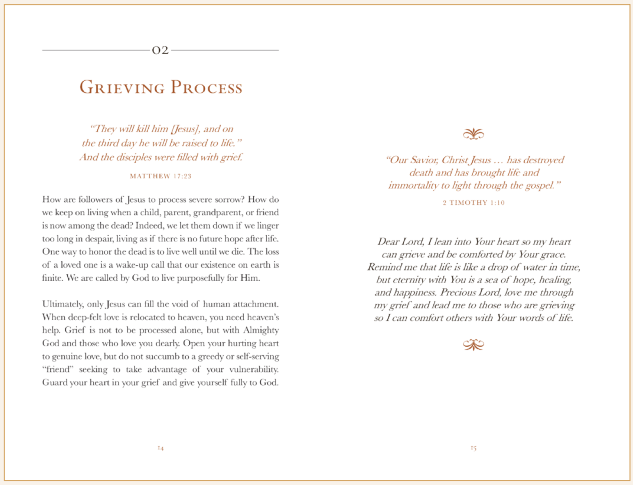

Our walk during the early days of grief seems to be the most arduous. We find ourselves barely limping along. Try as we might, sometimes the best we can do is get out of bed, take one breath at a time, and move our feet slowly, one in front of the other. If this is where you find yourself today, take heart, my fellow weary traveler. God understands these days. He not only walks beside us, but it's on these days when He carries us.

It was during one of the earliest days of walking this road when I made the decision that no matter what, I would follow Jesus. Was my heart broken? Yes. Was it going to be less broken if I walked away from my heavenly Father? Certainly not. Grief will be one of the hardest journeys we will travel, yet where else will we go? Who else can we run to? If we put our hope and trust in God, He will surely help us find our way.

"God is indeed my salvation; I will trust and won't be afraid."

ISAIAH 12:2

Father, I need You today. Please cover me and lift me up when I feel as if I'm drowning. When I cannot take another step, please carry me through this darkest valley. I know that if I put my entire heart and soul into Your hands, Lord, I'll find the strength and peace I need for this journey. Please lead the way, Lord.

02

GRIEVING PROCESS

"They will kill him [Jesus], and on the third day he will be raised to life." And the disciples were filled with grief.

MATTHEW 17:23

How are followers of Jesus to process severe sorrow? How do we keep on living when a child, parent, grandparent, or friend is now among the dead? Indeed, we let them down if we linger too long in despair, living as if there is no future hope after life. One way to honor the dead is to live well until we die. The loss of a loved one is a wake-up call that our existence on earth is finite. We are called by God to live purposefully for Him.

Ultimately, only Jesus can fill the void of human attachment. When deep-felt love is relocated to heaven, you need heaven's help. Grief is not to be processed alone, but with Almighty God and those who love you dearly. Open your hurting heart to genuine love, but do not succumb to a greedy or self-serving "friend" seeking to take advantage of your vulnerability. Guard your heart in your grief and give yourself fully to God.

"Our Savior, Christ Jesus … has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel."

2 TIMOTHY 1:10

Dear Lord, I lean into Your heart so my heart can grieve and be comforted by Your grace. Remind me that life is like a drop of water in time, but eternity with You is a sea of hope, healing, and happiness. Precious Lord, love me through my grief and lead me to those who are grieving so I can comfort others with Your words of life.

BORROWING

It's Not Wrong, but It Can Be Dangerous

The rich rule over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender.
PROVERBS 22:7

Let's call this a warning to the wise.
Don't borrow money if you can help it.
But if you do borrow money, pay it back.

No one should be surprised Solomon has so much to say about money. After all, we live in a world where money is the measure of all things. Like it or not, we are evaluated by how much we make, how much we spend, and how conspicuously we spend it. The currency of the day is the credit card. Who among us goes shopping without at least one credit card—for identification, if not to make our purchases?

But the problem is deeper than those little rectangles of plastic. Proverbs warns us of the danger of making money the measure of life. "Do not wear yourself out to get rich; have the wisdom to show restraint. Cast but a glance at riches, and they are gone, for they will surely sprout wings and fly off to the sky like an eagle" (23:4–5). Those in a hurry to get money find that once they get it, it has a way of slipping through their fingers.

Take your time, Solomon says. Work hard, save your money, don't buy what you can't afford. Remember that wealth in any amount is a gift from God. Be honest in all your dealings, don't rig the scales to gain an advantage. Beware of bribes, don't oppress the poor, be generous, and God will be generous to you. These tried-and-true principles are the secrets of financial freedom.

We should consider Proverbs 22:7 against that backdrop. The first half of the verse makes an observation on the way of the world that cannot be denied. As the saying goes, money talks. This is not a moral judgment but a simple fact of life. It is the world's version of the Golden Rule: Those who have the gold make the rules.

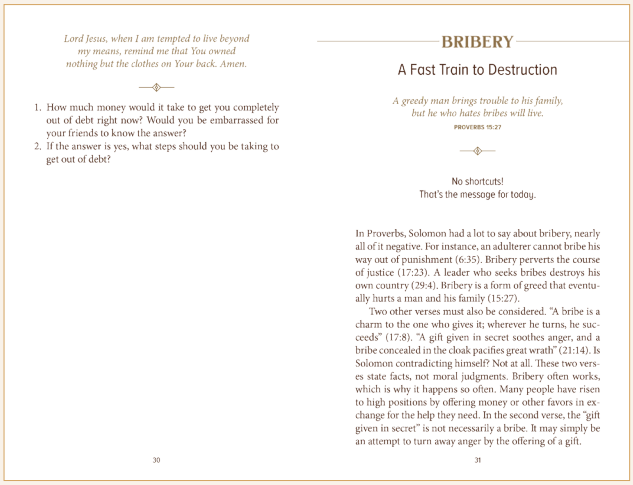

But the second half is equally important. How is the borrower a servant to the lender? He is a servant because the lender has a legal (and moral) claim on his money. If he defaults, the lender can (and often does) take him to court, where he may lose all his possessions. All that he has is at risk until the loan is paid off.

Does this mean it is wrong to borrow money? No. Solomon intends to remind Christians that there is no such thing as a "free" loan. If it's "free," it's not a loan; if it's a loan, it's not "free."

Far too many people have a cavalier attitude toward debt, which is why they run up credit card bills into tens of thousands of dollars. But at that point, they are in prison, whether they know it or not. And because of their careless actions, they aren't free to be generous to others and to the Lord.

Before you take out a loan, remember the lender is on top, and you are on bottom. If you can't make the payments, don't take the loan. It's as simple as that.

29

Lord Jesus, when I am tempted to live beyond my means, remind me that You owned nothing but the clothes on Your back. Amen.

1. How much money would it take to get you completely out of debt right now? Would you be embarrassed for your friends to know the answer?
2. If the answer is yes, what steps should you be taking to get out of debt?

30

BRIBERY

A Fast Train to Destruction

A greedy man brings trouble to his family, but he who hates bribes will live.
PROVERBS 15:27

No shortcuts!
That's the message for today.

In Proverbs, Solomon had a lot to say about bribery, nearly all of it negative. For instance, an adulterer cannot bribe his way out of punishment (6:35). Bribery perverts the course of justice (17:23). A leader who seeks bribes destroys his own country (29:4). Bribery is a form of greed that eventually hurts a man and his family (15:27).

Two other verses must also be considered. "A bribe is a charm to the one who gives it; wherever he turns, he succeeds" (17:8). "A gift given in secret soothes anger, and a bribe concealed in the cloak pacifies great wrath" (21:14). Is Solomon contradicting himself? Not at all. These two verses state facts, not moral judgments. Bribery often works, which is why it happens so often. Many people have risen to high positions by offering money or other favors in exchange for the help they need. In the second verse, the "gift given in secret" is not necessarily a bribe. It may simply be an attempt to turn away anger by the offering of a gift.

WE ARE SO DIFFERENT

TRUTH

I can do all things through him who strengthens me.
PHILIPPIANS 4:13 ESV

TALK TO GOD

Lord, I come to you with a humble heart, acknowledging the differences between my husband and me. His world often seems foreign to me, and I struggle to understand his unique needs, desires, and preferences. I pray for a heart filled with curiosity and a desire to truly understand my husband and build a deeper connection with him. May I never stop exploring his thoughts, experiences, and perspectives. Give me the grace to set aside my own preferences and focus on his needs. When it becomes overwhelming to step into his world, remind me that through You, I can accomplish all things, and that You will provide me with the wisdom and strength I need. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THINK

Think of ways your husband is different than you are. Think about the good those things bring to your life and your marriage. Thank God for each of those ways your husband is different and be grateful for the balance and blessing it brings to your relationship.

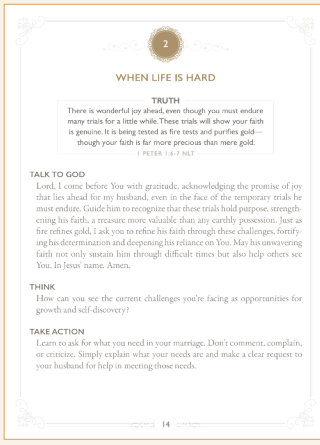

TAKE ACTION

Pick one of the ways he's different than you and let him know how much you appreciate that difference and what it brings to your life and relationship.

WHEN LIFE IS HARD

TRUTH

There is wonderful joy ahead, even though you must endure many trials for a little while. These trials will show your faith is genuine. It is being tested as fire tests and purifies gold—though your faith is far more precious than mere gold.
1 PETER 1:6-7 NLT

TALK TO GOD

Lord, I come before You with gratitude, acknowledging the promise of joy that lies ahead for my husband, even in the face of the temporary trials he must endure. Guide him to recognize that these trials hold purpose, strengthening his faith, a treasure more valuable than any earthly possession. Just as fire refines gold, I ask you to refine his faith through these challenges, fortifying his determination and deepening his reliance on You. May his unwavering faith not only sustain him through difficult times but also help others see You. In Jesus' name. Amen.

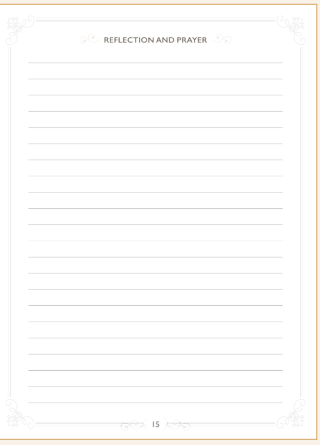

THINK

How can you see the current challenges you're facing as opportunities for growth and self-discovery?

TAKE ACTION

Learn to ask for what you need in your marriage. Don't comment, complain, or criticize. Simply explain what your needs are and make a clear request to your husband for help in meeting those needs.

Bless Her Future Marriage

"'For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife, and the two will become one flesh.' So they are no longer two, but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let no one separate."
MARK 10:7-9

FATHER,
Even now, prepare my daughter and her future husband for their life together. Build them up in faith so they can live in obedience to You. Give them an unshakable commitment to each other that will stand the test of time. When disappointments, troubles, and temptations come their way, let them lean on You and hold fast to one another. Give them unity by Your Spirit that can never be broken. Amen.

23

Spiritual Protection

Be alert and of sober mind. Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour. Resist him, standing firm in the faith, because you know that the family of believers throughout the world is undergoing the same kind of sufferings.
1 PETER 5:8-9

LORD GOD,
Guard my daughter from the enemy—he wants to make her suffer and destroy her life. Give her discernment to detect his lies and schemes. Fill her with courage to resist him, believing Your Word and trusting in Your love. May she flee temptation, live in Your truth, and stand firm in the faith without wavering. Surround her with believers so she doesn't have to face the enemy alone. Amen.

20

Freedom from Pride

Live in harmony with one another. Do not be proud, but be willing to associate with people of low position. Do not be conceited.
ROMANS 12:16

FATHER,
Teach my daughter to be a true friend. Keep her from pride and selfishness that strives for popularity. Give her a loving heart that reaches out to others, regardless of how they fit in with the crowd. Use her as a peacemaker so that no one is left out or rejected. May her kindness and compassion shine the light of Jesus wherever she goes. Amen.

21

Worship & Praise

I rejoiced with those who said to me,
"Let us go to the house of the Lord."
PSALM 122:1

LORD GOD,
I pray that my daughter would love Your church. Give her joy as she gathers with other believers to worship. Let her experience Your presence as the Word is preached and praises are lifted up in prayer and singing. Envelop her in love through the ministry of Your people. Use the church to build her faith and knowledge of You. Amen.

24

Being Kind and Helpful

Do everything without grumbling or arguing, so that you may become blameless and pure, "children of God without fault in a warped and crooked generation."

PHILIPPIANS 2:14-15

FATHER,

Teach my son how valuable he is to our family and his community. Give him a willing heart to do his part without complaining. Let him show respect by obeying instructions without argument. Make it a joy for him to listen and learn, to pitch in and do his work. Bless him with a reputation for a kind and helpful attitude. Use him to show Your love to others as he submits to Your will each day. Amen.

25

A Team Player

Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit. Rather, in humility value others above yourselves, not looking to your own interests but each of you to the interests of the others.

PHILIPPIANS 2:3-4

LORD JESUS,

In our "me-first" culture, my son may be tempted to think only of himself. Put to rest his efforts to be the most popular or the one in charge. Make him humble so he doesn't crave attention, praise, and blessings for himself alone. Teach him to be a team player—encouraging the talents and success of everyone in his life. Guard his heart from selfishness that tears others down. Let him love as You love him. Amen.

26

Witnessing to Others

Sing to the LORD, all the earth; proclaim His salvation day after day. Declare His glory among the nations, His marvelous deeds among all peoples.

1 CHRONICLES 16:23-24

HEAVENLY FATHER,

Tell Your story of salvation through my son's life. Use him to declare the power of Your deliverance from the enemy. Give him a voice to speak the truth of Your Word to all who would listen. Fill his mouth with praise for all the ways You protect and provide. Let him celebrate victory over sin and darkness. Use my son as a mighty messenger of Your gospel to this lost and hurting world. Amen.

27

Endurance and Fortitude

Even youths grow tired and weary, and young men stumble and fall; but those who hope in the LORD will renew their strength.

ISAIAH 40:30-31

LORD,

My son is weary of working hard and submitting to what's required of him. The rewards seem out of reach. He's not sure that it's worth it to keep doing the right thing. Give him Your strength, and encourage his heart to keep going. Help him to resist temptation to sin or doubt Your goodness. Surround him with support and build him up with Your Word. Keep him steady and faithful as he puts his hope in You. Amen.

Quiz 3

THE SNAKE AND SIN

When we sin, we do something that does not please God. Everyone has sinned, but God loves us and forgives us. This story is about the first sins recorded in the Bible.

Genesis 3:1–8, ICB

Now the snake was the most clever of all the wild animals the Lord God had made. One day the snake spoke to the woman. He said, "Did God really say that you must not eat fruit from any tree in the garden?"

The woman answered the snake, "We may eat fruit from the trees in the garden. But God told us, 'You must not eat fruit from the tree that is in the middle of the garden. You must not even touch it, or you will die.'"

But the snake said to the woman, "You will not die. God knows that if you eat the fruit from that tree, you will learn about good and evil. Then you will be like God!"

The woman saw that the tree was beautiful. She saw that its fruit was good to eat and that it would make her wise. So she took some of its fruit and ate it. She also gave some of the fruit to her husband who was with her, and he ate it.

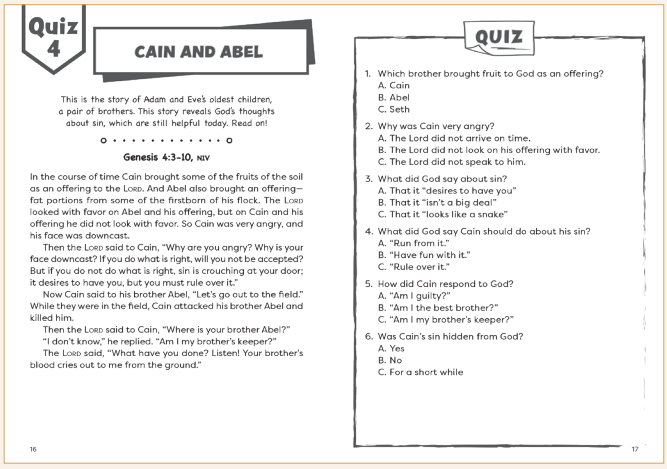

Then, it was as if the man's and the woman's eyes were opened. They realized they were naked. So they sewed fig leaves together and made something to cover themselves. Then they heard the Lord God walking in the garden. This was during the cool part of the day. And the man and his wife hid from the Lord God among the trees in the garden.

QUIZ

1. Did the woman already know what she should or shouldn't do?
   A. Yes
   B. No
   C. Maybe
2. How is the snake described?
   A. Green and scaly
   B. Evil looking and sinister
   C. As the most clever wild animal
3. Where was this tree?
   A. At the front of the garden
   B. In the middle of the garden
   C. Outside the garden's gates
4. What did the snake do in its response to the woman?
   A. It lied.
   B. It told a joke.
   C. It praised God.
5. What did the man and the woman realize after they ate the fruit?
   A. That they were still hungry
   B. That they were naked
   C. That they were tired
6. What did the man and woman do when they knew God was coming?
   A. They went to meet Him.
   B. They hid in the trees.
   C. They picked some fruit for Him.

Quiz 4

CAIN AND ABEL

This is the story of Adam and Eve's oldest children, a pair of brothers. This story reveals God's thoughts about sin, which are still helpful today. Read on!

Genesis 4:3–10, NIV

In the course of time Cain brought some of the fruits of the soil as an offering to the LORD. And Abel also brought an offering—fat portions from some of the firstborn of his flock. The LORD looked with favor on Abel and his offering, but on Cain and his offering he did not look with favor. So Cain was very angry, and his face was downcast.

Then the LORD said to Cain, "Why are you angry? Why is your face downcast? If you do what is right, will you not be accepted? But if you do not do what is right, sin is crouching at your door; it desires to have you, but you must rule over it."

Now Cain said to his brother Abel, "Let's go out to the field." While they were in the field, Cain attacked his brother Abel and killed him.

Then the LORD said to Cain, "Where is your brother Abel?"

"I don't know," he replied. "Am I my brother's keeper?"

The LORD said, "What have you done? Listen! Your brother's blood cries out to me from the ground."

QUIZ

1. Which brother brought fruit to God as an offering?
   A. Cain
   B. Abel
   C. Seth
2. Why was Cain very angry?
   A. The Lord did not arrive on time.
   B. The Lord did not look on his offering with favor.
   C. The Lord did not speak to him.
3. What did God say about sin?
   A. That it "desires to have you"
   B. That it "isn't a big deal"
   C. That it "looks like a snake"
4. What did God say Cain should do about his sin?
   A. "Run from it."
   B. "Have fun with it."
   C. "Rule over it."
5. How did Cain respond to God?
   A. "Am I guilty?"
   B. "Am I the best brother?"
   C. "Am I my brother's keeper?"
6. Was Cain's sin hidden from God?
   A. Yes
   B. No
   C. For a short while

Quiz 1

JESUS' MOM, MARY

Jesus' mom was a young woman named Mary. During these days, some women were married when they were teenagers. However old Mary was, she was a faithful young person we can all learn from!

Luke 1:26–38, NIV

In the sixth month of Elizabeth's pregnancy, God sent the angel Gabriel to Nazareth, a town in Galilee, to a virgin pledged to be married to a man named Joseph, a descendant of David. The virgin's name was Mary. The angel went to her and said, "Greetings, you who are highly favored! The Lord is with you."

Mary was greatly troubled at his words and wondered what kind of greeting this might be. But the angel said to her, "Do not be afraid, Mary; you have found favor with God. You will conceive and give birth to a son, and you are to call him Jesus. He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. The Lord God will give him the throne of his father David, and he will reign over Jacob's descendants forever; his kingdom will never end."

"How will this be," Mary asked the angel, "since I am a virgin?"

The angel answered, "The Holy Spirit will come on you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you. So the holy one to be born will be called the Son of God. Even Elizabeth your relative is going to have a child in her old age, and she who was said to be unable to conceive is in her sixth month. For no word from God will ever fail."

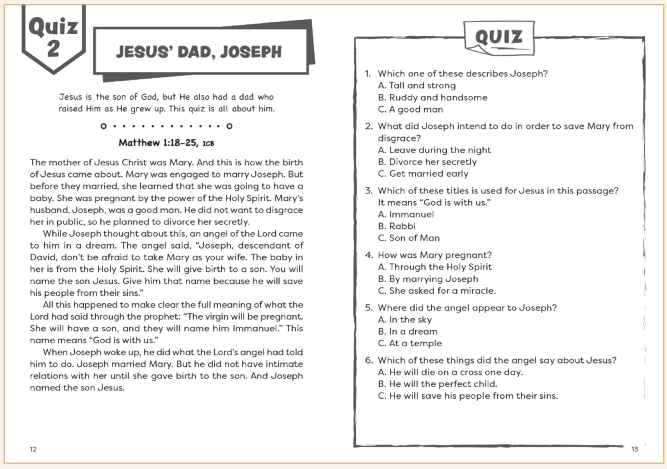

"I am the Lord's servant," Mary answered. "May your word to me be fulfilled." Then the angel left her.

QUIZ

1. How far along was Mary's cousin, Elizabeth, in her pregnancy?
   A. Six months
   B. Nine months
   C. One month
2. What is the name of the angel who visited Mary?
   A. Michael
   B. Elah
   C. Gabriel
3. Whose throne would Jesus someday be given?
   A. Caesar's
   B. Nebuchadnezzar's
   C. David's
4. What is one of the words used to describe Mary?
   A. Young
   B. Virgin
   C. Cunning
5. Which of these titles does the angel use for Jesus?
   A. The Good Shepherd
   B. Lion of Judah
   C. Son of the Most High
6. How did Mary respond to the angel?
   A. Your will be done.
   B. I am the Lord's servant.
   C. I am ready.

11

Quiz 2

JESUS' DAD, JOSEPH

Jesus is the son of God, but He also had a dad who raised Him as He grew up. This quiz is all about him.

Matthew 1:18–25, ICB

The mother of Jesus Christ was Mary. And this is how the birth of Jesus came about. Mary was engaged to marry Joseph. But before they married, she learned that she was going to have a baby. She was pregnant by the power of the Holy Spirit. Mary's husband, Joseph, was a good man. He did not want to disgrace her in public, so he planned to divorce her secretly.

While Joseph thought about this, an angel of the Lord came to him in a dream. The angel said, "Joseph, descendant of David, don't be afraid to take Mary as your wife. The baby in her is from the Holy Spirit. She will give birth to a son. You will name the son Jesus. Give him that name because he will save his people from their sins."

All this happened to make clear the full meaning of what the Lord had said through the prophet: "The virgin will be pregnant. She will have a son, and they will name him Immanuel." This name means "God is with us."

When Joseph woke up, he did what the Lord's angel had told him to do. Joseph married Mary. But he did not have intimate relations with her until she gave birth to the son. And Joseph named the son Jesus.

QUIZ

1. Which one of these describes Joseph?
   A. Tall and strong
   B. Ruddy and handsome
   C. A good man
2. What did Joseph intend to do in order to save Mary from disgrace?
   A. Leave during the night
   B. Divorce her secretly
   C. Get married early
3. Which of these titles is used for Jesus in this passage? It means "God is with us."
   A. Immanuel
   B. Rabbi
   C. Son of Man
4. How was Mary pregnant?
   A. Through the Holy Spirit
   B. By marrying Joseph
   C. She asked for a miracle.
5. Where did the angel appear to Joseph?
   A. In the sky
   B. In a dream
   C. At a temple
6. Which of these things did the angel say about Jesus?
   A. He will die on a cross one day.
   B. He will the perfect child.
   C. He will save his people from their sins.
