RE: Update - Service Interruption Scheduled for Conversion of California Producer License Types and License Qualifications

There are new conversion dates listed below for the California Department of Insurance's (CDI) project to convert specific producer license qualifications and producer license types listed below to provide uniformity with standards in the National Association of Insurance Commissioners Producer Licensing Model Act (PLMA).

New Service Interruption Scheduled – revised dates are underlined

No CDI licensing services will be available from 4:00 p.m. on Friday May 20, 2022, through 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, May 26, 2022 (Pacific Time). License and application specific information will be available starting on Friday, May 27, 2022.

Conversion of License Types

CDI's producer licensing conversions do not affect the authority, scope, or subject area of the line of insurance. In accordance with the PMLA standards, the following "current" individual and business entity license types will become "inactive" on May 23, 2022, and the "new" license types will be added to the license record.

Current	New
Resident Insurance Producer	Insurance Producer
Non-Resident Insurance Producer	Insurance Producer
Resident Personal Lines Broker-Agent Resident Personal Lines Broker-Agency	Insurance Producer
Non-Resident Personal Lines Broker-Agent Non-Resident Personal Lines Broker-Agency	Insurance Producer

The Personal Lines qualification will be associated to the "Insurance Producer" license along with all qualifications currently associated to the Resident Insurance Producer and Non-Resident Producer license types.
